

UK doctors lured to Australia with ads promising £130,000 salary and days off to swim and surf | By The Independent

NHS doctors are being lured to Australia by adverts promising them a six-figure salary and 20 days off each month to “travel, swim and surf in the sun”.

The advert has been placed in the BMJ, the prominent journal published by the British Medical Association union, during a week in which the NHS has...

READ MORE

TaboolaNews

'I don't need that distraction': Djokovic fuming after being aske...

Khaleej Times

'I don't need that distraction': Djokovic fuming after being aske...

Khaleej Times

Pope says he has lung inflammation, aide reads message for him

Khaleej Times
